It often happens, in the arts as in show business, that the profession passes from father to son, but it is rare that the two generations achieve the same excellence. Mimmo is one of the great names in the history of photography of Italian photography. Francesco's artistic research instead addresses the changes in the contemporary social landscape in relation to urban anthropology, proposing a practice of art as a civil poetics. For the first time, Mimmo and Francesco, father and son, dialogue and confront each other around life, art, photography, they make us perceive reality with a sideways glance going beyond the border.
